Pope Francis: True faith means loving others to the extreme

Holy Father visits Egypt; encourages country's Catholics

CAIRO (CNS) – The only kind of fanaticism that is acceptable to God is being fanatical about loving and helping others, Pope Francis said on his final day of a visit to Egypt.

“True faith,” he told Catholics, “makes us more charitable, more merciful, more honest and more humane. It moves our hearts to love everyone without counting the cost.”

The pope celebrated an open-air Mass April 29 in Cairo's Air Defense Stadium, built by the anti-aircraft branch of the Egyptian armed forces. The pope celebrated with Coptic Catholic Patriarch Ibrahim Isaac Sedrak of Alexandria and leaders of the other Catholic rites in Egypt.

After spending the first day of his visit in meetings with Muslim leaders, government officials, diplomats and members of the Coptic Orthodox Church, the pope dedicated the second day of his trip to Egypt's minority Catholic community.

Arriving at the stadium in a blue Fiat, the pope was slowly driven around the stadium's red running track in a small and low golf cart, far from the estimated 15,000 people seated in the stands high above. Yellow balloons and a long chain of blue balloons tied together like a rosary were released into the sky as a military helicopter circled high above the venue.

Surrounded by security, the pope managed to personally greet only one small group of children who were dressed as pharaohs and other traditional figures. They hugged the pope affectionately as security tightly closed in on the group.

Diocesan Annual Appeal Surpasses $5 Million Goal

Gifts to the Appeal help the needy by supporting programs such as St. Vincent de Paul Kitchen in Wilkes-Barre, which serves a free daily meal. Pictured are students from Holy Redeemer High School volunteering at the Kitchen during a recent service day.

The Most Reverend Joseph C. Bambera, D.D., J.C.L., Bishop of Scranton, has announced that the 2016 Diocesan Annual Appeal has raised $5,056,000 in gifts and pledges, surpassing the goal of $5 million. The Annual Appeal has received gifts and pledges from 31,211 donors. Seventy-five parishes surpassed their Annual Appeal parish goal.

“I am thankful for the generosity of parishioners throughout our Diocese. Your gifts to the Appeal help our Diocesan ministries respond to all those in need of God's mercy and love in our local Church. I also appreciate the commitment of our pastors and parish staffs for the work they do each year in support of the Appeal,” said Bishop Bambera. “It is such a joy to know that together, we can have a meaningful impact on the lives of so many of our family and friends.”

Gifts to the Diocesan Annual Appeal support the mission of our local Church to:

+ feed the hungry, clothe and provide shelter and assistance for those most in need

+ care for our retired bishops and priests who have faithfully served, and continue to serve, the needs of the faithful in our Diocese

Catholic Men Invited to Conference on Saturday

Catholic men from throughout the Diocese of Scranton will gather on Saturday, May 6, for a day of faith and fellowship. More than 1,000 men are expected to attend the third annual Diocesan Catholic Men's Conference at King's College in Wilkes-Barre.

All Catholic males – whether single, fathers, grandfathers, sons, grandsons and friends – are invited to experience inspirational talks, uplifting music, the opportunity to participate in Eucharistic adoration and the Sacrament of Reconciliation, share meals and attend Mass celebrated by Bishop Joseph C. Bambera. Young men 13 or younger should be accompanied by an adult sponsor.

The theme is “Be A Man: Mary's Call to Battle,” inspired by this year's centenary celebration of Our Blessed Mother's appearances at Fatima.

The conference will feature three outstanding speakers: Father Andrew Apostoli, CFR, an author and retreat leader who is one of the world's foremost experts on the apparitions at Fatima; Matt Fradd, an apologist and speaker with Catholic Answers; and Steve Ray, an author, pilgrimage guide, and frequent guest on EWTN.

Registration and breakfast begin at 7:00 a.m.; the conference starts at 8:00 a.m. The closing Mass will conclude at 2:45 p.m. Lunch will be provided. The cost is $35; $15 for students. Priests and Deacons may attend at no charge.

Registration is available via the conference website: www.BeAManconference.com or by calling the Diocesan Pastoral Center at 570-207-2213. Registration will also be accepted at the door on the day of the conference.

"We cannot encounter God without first crucifying our narrow notions of a god who reflects only our own understanding of omnipotence and power," the pope said in his homily.

True faith "makes us see the other not as an enemy to be overcome, but a brother or sister to be loved, served and helped," he said, and it leads to dialogue and respect and the courage to defend the rights and dignity of everyone, not just oneself.

"God is pleased only by a faith that is proclaimed by our lives, for the only fanaticism believers can have is that of charity. Any other fanaticism does not come from God and is not pleasing to him," he said.

At the end of the Mass, Patriarch Sedrak thanked the pope for his visit, which, though it was brief, "has overflowed our hearts with joy and our lives with blessing."

The warm welcome Pope Francis received from so many political and religious components of Egyptian society "is a message to the world that confirms Egypt's nature" as a lover of peace that seeks to affirm peace in the Middle East and the world, the patriarch said.

Later in the day, before his departure for Rome, the pope met with about 1,500 priests, seminarians and religious men and women for a prayer service on the sports field of a Coptic Catholic seminary in Cairo.

He thanked the church workers for their witness and for the good they do in the midst of "many challenges and often few consolations."

"Although there are many reasons to be discouraged, amid many prophets of destruction and condemnation, and so many negative and despairing voices, may you be a positive force, salt and light for this society," he told them.

Expose violence masquerading as holy

Calling his visit to Egypt a journey of "unity and fraternity," Pope Francis launched a powerful call to the nation's religious leaders to expose violence masquerading as holy and condemn religiously inspired hatred as an idolatrous caricature of God.

"Peace alone, therefore, is holy, and no act of violence can be perpetrated in the name of God, for it would profane his name," the pope told Muslim and Christian leaders at an international peace conference April 28. Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew of Constantinople was in attendance.

Pope Francis also warned of attempts to fight violence with violence, saying "every unilateral action that does not promote constructive and shared processes is, in reality, a gift to the proponents of radicalism and violence."

The pope began his two-day visit to Cairo by speaking at a gathering organized by Egypt's al-Azhar University, Sunni Islam's highest institute of learning.

He told reporters on the papal flight from Rome that the trip was significant for the fact that he was invited by the grand imam of al-Azhar, Sheik Ahmad el-Tayeb; Egyptian President Abdel-Fattah el-Sissi; Coptic Orthodox Pope Tawadros II; and Coptic Catholic Patriarch Ibrahim Isaac Sedrak of Alexandria.

Having these four leaders invite him for the trip shows it is "a trip of unity and fraternity."

Greeted with a standing ovation and a few scattered shouts of "viva il papa" (long live the pope), the pope later greeted conference participants saying, "Peace be with you" in Arabic.

He gave a 23-minute talk highlighting Egypt's great and "glorious history" as a land of civilization, wisdom and faith in God. Small olive branches symbolizing peace were among the greenery adorning the podium.

Religious leaders have a duty to respect everyone's religious identity and have "the courage to accept differences," he said in the talk that was interrupted by applause several times.

Those who belong to a different culture or religion "should not be seen or treated as enemies, but rather welcomed as fellow-travelers," he said.

The pope and Sheik el-Tayeb embraced after the sheik gave his introductory address, which emphasized that only false notions of religion, including Islam, lead to violence. The grand imam expressed gratitude for the pope's remarks in which he rejected the association of Islam with terror.

The sheik began his speech by requesting the audience stand for a minute's silence to commemorate the victims of terrorism in Egypt and globally, regardless of their religions.

"We should not hold religion accountable for the crimes of any small group of followers," he said. "For example, Islam is not a religion of terrorism" just because a small group of fanatics "ignorantly" misinterpret texts of the Quran to support their hatred.

Pope Francis emphasized that religion "is not a problem, but a part of the solution" because it helps people lift their hearts toward God "in order to learn how to build the city of man."

*Pope
Francis'
Prayer for Vocations*

God our Father, You made each of us to use our gifts in the Body of Christ.

We ask that you inspire young people whom you call to priesthood and consecrated life to courageously follow your will.

Send workers into your great harvest so that the Gospel is preached, the poor are served with love, the suffering are comforted, and your people are strengthened by the sacraments.

Through Christ our Lord.

Amen.

Am I Called?

The truth is we are all called. Jesus is calling us to follow Him and be His disciple. But is He calling you to become a priest?

As a baptized man considering the Priesthood, with the right motives and the inward sense that God is calling you, you should consider this calling as an invitation from Christ. Truly, it is a gift from God. And you need to decide how to respond to this gift.

Being a priest is not easy, but then again, what way of life is? If you believe that Christ is calling you then you owe it to yourself and to all those you may someday serve to determine what exactly you are being called to do. Discernment is accomplished through prayer and spiritual guidance from a priest. Because Christ speaks to you and comes to you through His church, you will need the church to help you discern your vocation.

The question is not: "What am I to do with my life?"

The question is: "What is God calling me to do?"

These questions are posed to you to help you in finding your true happiness and fulfillment while doing the will of God.

St. Francis of Assisi Kitchen Celebrates Host-for-a-Day Campaign

The St. Francis of Assisi Kitchen in Scranton thanked hundreds of supporters for enabling it to continue its mission of feeding the needy. An Appreciation Reception was held on April 26 at Genetti's in Dickson City for contributors to the Kitchen's annual Host-for-a-Day campaign. The Host-for-a-Day campaign is the primary means of financial support for the Kitchen, which serves a free daily meal to needy men, women and children, and provides other services, including weekly meals at three Lackawanna County parishes. The Kitchen has been providing this service in the community since it opened in 1978.

Several individuals were honored for outstanding support to the Kitchen. From left: Monsignor Joseph P. Kelly, executive director of the Kitchen; Michele McDade, Advisory Board president; Jay and Phil Rosenstein, representing Wm. Rosenstein & Sons, which has made generous donations of food for many years; and Deb Walton, general chair of the 2017 Host-for-a-Day campaign.

Reverend Daniel David Olszewski Laid to Rest

Reverend Daniel David Olszewski, 90, of Laflin, passed away peacefully on Friday, April 28, at his home.

Born in Plains Twp. on October 13, 1926, he was the son of the late Alex and Sophia (Mohelski) Olszewski.

Father received his early education at Plains Memorial High School; Wyoming Seminary, Kingston; and St. Charles College, Catonsville, Md. He entered the seminary at St. Mary's Seminary and University, Baltimore, where he earned his Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1947. Father went on to study theology at St. Mary's, where he earned his Bachelor of Sacred Theology in June of 1949 and his Licentiate in Sacred Theology in May of 1951.

He was ordained to the priesthood on May 19, 1951, in Saint Peter's Cathedral, Scranton, by the Most Reverend William Joseph Hafey, late Bishop of Scranton.

Father Olszewski served as assistant pastor at Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Tunkhannock; St. Therese Church, Shavertown; Sacred Heart of Jesus, Mayfield; Sacred Heart of Jesus, Dupont;

Reverend Daniel David Olszewski

and Vicar Adjutor at St. Michael's, Glen Lyon.

He was assigned his first pastorate at Sacred Heart in Forest City on January 28, 1970, where he served until September 9, 1975, when he was appointed pastor of SS. Peter and Paul in Scranton. Father served at SS. Peter and Paul until his next appointment as pastor of Sacred Heart of Jesus in Dupont on January 24, 1985, where he remained until his retirement and appointment as pastor emeritus on July 6, 1999.

Father found the most rewarding aspects of his priestly assignments to be administration of the sacraments; teaching in the parish C.C.D. program and instructing individuals in their journey to prospective conversion to the Catholic faith. Father also spoke the Polish language, which allowed him to minister to the Polish speaking members of his congregations where language barriers were an issue.

In addition to his parents, Father Olszewski was preceded in death by his brothers; Paul Peter Olszewski and the Honorable Peter Paul Olszewski.

Father Olszewski is survived by his nieces and nephews: Attorney Peter Paul Olszewski Jr. and his wife, Attorney Melissa Scartelli; Rachel Olszewski; Paul Peter Olszewski II and his wife Lisa; Casey Olszewski; John Olszewski and his wife Jaclyn; Alec Olszewski; and Mary Olszewski Hoda and her husband Paul. Also surviving are great nieces and nephews Aaron, Ethan, and Hillary Hoda; and his caretaker Theresa Dobrowski.

A Pontifical Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated by Bishop Joseph C. Bambera on May 3 at Sacred Heart of Jesus Church, Dupont. Interment was in SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery, Plains.

ASCENSION DAY OF PRAYER FOR CHRISTIAN UNITY ON MAY 25

The Christian Communities Gathering of Northeastern Pennsylvania will sponsor the third Ascension Day gathering of prayer and fellowship at First Presbyterian Church, 97 South Franklin Street Wilkes-Barre, on Thursday, May 25, at noon. Everyone is invited to the ecumenical prayer service.

The homilist for the service will be Very Rev. Father Timothy Cremeens, Ph.D., Dean of Holy Resurrection Orthodox Cathedral, Wilkes-Barre.

This year, the Ascension Thursday service of prayer and fellowship is one way of commemorating the 500th Anniversary of the Reformation, and revitalizing and re-energizing efforts to promote Christian unity and human solidarity.

Cardinal Walter Kasper, writing in Martin Luther, An Ecumenical Perspective, stated: "Christian ecumenism is concerned with the unity of the church in service to the unity and peace of the world."

He added, "Today both churches understand themselves as...a church always in need of renewal and reform."

Cardinal Kasper further commented on the understanding of ecumenism that has developed, when he wrote: "This ecumenical expansion has led in ecumenism to the discovery that what binds us together in one baptism in Jesus Christ is more than what divides us, and that where we are still divided, we continue to learn from one another."

The Christian Communities Gathering of Northeastern Pennsylvania was formed in 1999 in response to Saint Pope John Paul II's call to prepare for the coming of the Great Jubilee of the Year 2000, and in particular to focus on deepening ecumenical relationships on the local level. The group has scheduled quarterly meetings ever since.

In addition to being actively involved in the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity sponsored by the Diocese of Scranton at the Cathedral of Saint Peter, the group began the Ascension Thursday Prayer and Fellowship service in 2015.

On September 9, 2016, members of the Christian Communities Gathering of NEPA, Christians of various denominations, members of clergy groups, members of the Wilkes-Barre Inter-Faith Council and representatives of various faith traditions, participated in a Diocesan-sponsored Interfaith Prayer Service for Peace at Saint Peter's Cathedral.

These prayer services and gatherings for Christian unity promote the virtue of solidarity and greater awareness of the unity of the human race through understanding and cooperation, dialogue, exchanging ideas and cooperating to address social concerns.

The Second Vatican Council issued documents promoting Ecumenism and interfaith dialogue: Dogmatic Constitution on the Church, Decree on Ecumenism, and Declaration on the Relationship of the Church to Non-Christian Religions. Events like this help to educate, motivate and renew commitment to both human solidarity and Christian unity.

Everyone is welcome at this service of prayer for Christian unity because all Christians are called to pray and work for Christian unity and human solidarity.

Gathering the Voices of the Young Church in the Diocese of Scranton

In October 2018, a Synod will be held on the topic of Young People, the Faith and Vocational Discernment. This international gathering of Bishops will be held to discuss how the Catholic Church can better support young people on their lifelong faith journey. Leading up to the Synod, Pope Francis has asked every diocese to survey young people and the adults who work with them.

“The Church wishes to listen to your voice, your sensitivities and your faith; even your doubts and your criticism,” said Pope Francis in his letter to young people on the occasion of the presentation of the preparatory document for the 2018 Synod. He continued, “Make your voice heard, let it resonate in communities and let it be heard by your shepherds of souls.”

The Diocese of Scranton will “partner with Francis” and listen to the young church (16-35) and those who work with them. Both those who identify as Catholic and those who do not are encouraged to participate in order to get a better understanding of life as a young person today. Discussion will include the blessings/challenges young people face today, what can the Church do to help in discerning life’s major choices, the gifts and talents young people have to offer the Church, and more.

There are many ways to get involved. Starting on May 7, there will be Diocesan listening sessions scheduled for certain age groups through the Diocese (see the schedule listed below). A special website www.partnerwithfrancis.org will include more information about the Synod, resources for parishes and schools that wish to hold their own listening sessions, and an online survey for those not able to attend a

Feast of Our Lady of Fatima -- May 13

Father Daniel D. Olszewski

I have the feeling as I stand before you at this point of the liturgy that many of you are a bit perplexed of how or why I have the honor and privilege to deliver the homily at Father Dan's funeral Mass this morning. After all, Father Dan was 40 years older than me; he was a member of the Diocesan clergy and I a member of a religious congregation; and the clincher being that I do not have a drop of Polish blood flowing through my veins! So, if you think you're shocked, I was just as shocked when our dear Father Olszewski informed me a number of years ago in no uncertain terms that I was giving the homily at his funeral and that I had no choice in the matter.

Actually this is the third time that I have the great privilege of preaching the homily of our esteemed Diocesan priests who were products from that older generation: Monsignor Gerald Burns and Father Peter Alisauskas, whom I was blessed and gifted to know and learn from since my early years of seminary and priesthood. Our beloved Father Dan, whom we commend to Almighty God this morning, is also part of this "great generation" of priests that left their mark in the history of our beloved Diocese of Scranton. I feel so honored that my early years of Priesthood were surrounded by these men of God who had a profound influence on me without them ever realizing it.

My connection to Father Dan started on the day of my priestly ordination, just over 25 years ago in Saint Anthony's Church, Exeter, when he graced me with his presence and the imposition of his hands on my head. He had already become familiar with my religious congregation of the Oblates of Saint Joseph who had been assisting at this beautiful parish since the time of his predecessor, Father Leo Kozloski. We Oblates always saw it as an honor to serve such faith-filled, dedicated Polish people. Father Dan, on becoming the new pastor in 1985, continued this connection with the Oblates as we would assist whenever called upon for weekday and weekend Masses, school confessions every first Thursday of the month, Stations of the Cross during the Lenten season, and the annual solemn Forty Hours Devotions, of which he would be so kind to ask me to lead on occasion.

So, from the week after my ordination I was here assisting regularly with the Saturday evening 7:00 Mass and quite often the Sunday morning 10:45 Mass. I have to confess that at first I felt quite intimidated being around this strict Polish pastor, but who was always kind and generous to me in only the way he could express it. That would be extended with an occasional invitation over to the rectory where his dear faithful assistant, Terry, would shower us with more kindness and some delicious Polish goodies.

But Father Dan was always grateful for the assistance offered and for the utmost respect I showed him as a senior priest (not even dare the thought to call him by his first name). I was drawn to him immediately, certainly not because of any touchy, feely vibes I was getting from him, but that he was a priest who was a man's man — a serious, no nonsense pastor — whom some thought to be stern, but a priest who expected a lot first from himself, his staff and his

The Ethics of New Age Medicine

By Father Tad Pacholczyk, Ph.D.

Patients who face serious illnesses are sometimes attracted to alternative medicines, also referred to as "holistic" or "new-age" medicines. These can include treatments like homeopathy, hypnosis, "energy therapies" like Reiki, acupuncture, and herbal remedies, to name just a few.

These approaches raise various medical and ethical concerns. An important 1998 article in the New England Journal of Medicine sums it up this way:

"What most sets alternative medicine apart, in our view, is that it has not been scientifically tested and its advocates largely deny the need for such testing. By testing, we mean the marshaling of rigorous evidence of safety and efficacy, as required by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for the approval of drugs and by the best peer-reviewed medical journals for the publication of research reports."

Beyond the fact that their clinical efficacy has not earned a passing grade using ordinary methods of scientific investigation, the basic premise behind some alternative medicines can also be highly suspect, raising

CARDINAL DOLAN CALLS PRO-ABORTION DNC PLEDGE EXTREME, DISTURBING, INTOLERANT

WASHINGTON — Cardinal Timothy Dolan, chair of the USCCB's Committee on Pro-Life Activities, reacted to the announcement by the Democratic National Committee's chair pledging support only for pro-abortion candidates. Calling the pledge "very disturbing," Cardinal Dolan urged party members to "challenge their leadership to recant this intolerant position."

Cardinal Dolan's statement:

"TherecentpledgebytheDemocraticNational Committee chair to support only candidates who embrace the radical unrestricted abortion license is very disturbing. The Democratic Party platform already endorses abortion throughout the nine months of pregnancy, even forcing taxpayers to fund it; and now the DNC says that to be a Democrat — indeed to be an American — requires supporting that extreme agenda.

"True solidarity with pregnant women and their children transcends all party lines. Abortion doesn't empower women. Indeed, women deserve better than abortion.

"In the name of diversity and inclusion, pro-life and pro-choice Democrats, alike, should challenge their leadership to recant this intolerant position."

2017 Lay Ministry Skills Workshops Office for Parish Life Diocese of Scranton

Putting the "Pastoral" in Pastoral Ministry with Sr. Jane Connolly, IHM and Fr. Joe Evanko, May 13, 9AM-3PM at Holy Family Parish, Luzerne

Half of this workshop will look at the way encounters with parishioners about everyday human life can hold opportunities for faith-filled experiences of Jesus. Sr. Jane will explain pastoral counseling as a way to recognize the Paschal Mystery unfolding in human life and give participants an opportunity to try out this approach.

The second half of the workshop acknowledges that pastoral ministers are whole persons whose sexuality is intrinsic. A mature pastoral minister needs to appreciate his/her sexuality and channel it in creative and healthy ways. Fr. Evanko will describe how to develop these attitudes as well as how to maintain appropriate boundaries in ministry.

Sr. Jane Connolly, IHM, is a Pastoral Associate for St. Rose of Lima and Our Lady of Mt Carmel Parishes in Carbondale. She is a certified chaplain, with many years in hospital and parish ministry. Fr. Joe Evanko is a priest of the Diocese of Scranton, serving as the pastor of Our Lady Help of Christians Parish in Dorrance and of St. Jude Parish in Mountaintop. He has an MS in Counseling from Marywood University.

FAITH • ACADEMICS • SERVICE

The Diocese of Scranton is committed to educating our students in an environment that is academically excellent and facilitates the development of moral judgment and Christian decision-making. We are proud to share the following successes of our students in the classroom and in their service to others. Each day, our schools are fulfilling their mission of preparing today's youth and young adults to become tomorrow's faith-filled leaders.

Holy Rosary School in Duryea recently held a "Heart Healthy Day" which included a fun-filled Zumba lesson from Holy Rosary School parent and instructor Alicia Duque. Students raised $500 to benefit The American Heart Association. Here Ainsley Lear, Ava Policare, Lukas Herbert, Madeline Witkowski, Max Taylor, Annabelle Schillinger, Farrah Talarico and Liam Peet visit with the Heart Association Lion mascot.

All Saints Academy in Scranton celebrated World Down Syndrome Day and World Autism Awareness Day with students in the school's Individualized Instruction Program.

The 1st grade classes at Good Shepherd Academy in Kingston recently took part in an Earth Day activity. Nana Balonis read a story about Earth Day and led a discussion about ways to take care of our Earth. After the discussion, the students planted their own zinnia seeds. The flowers will be kept in the classroom for a few weeks so the students can make observations and record any changes.

Spirit Club members from St. John Neumann High School in Williamsport assist with the games and activities at the SJN Elementary Campus Spring Fling.

Ashlyn Moore, Matthew Millett, Ryan Walsh, Joseph Beradelli, Chris Ramey, Will Ramey and Elizabeth Schneider, students at Our Lady of Peace School in Clarks Green, represented their school at the recent Odyssey of the Mind competition.

The Kindergarten students at Holy Family Academy in Hazleton reenact the Stations of the Cross before Easter.

Letter “T” week was very busy for the three-year-olds at St. Jude School in Mountain Top. The little ones made construction paper tigers, read “Freight Train” and colored a freight train, did a project with the number ten, and covered a letter T with triangles. But the most exciting event was the Teddy Bear Tea Party, where the students, with their stuffed friends, enjoyed iced tea from a tea pot, as well as fruit and crackers while listening to “It’s the Bear,” a story about a bear who interrupts a son and mother picnic. Pictured are Luke Fauerbach, Calvin Schappert, Sydney Millard, Lily Peterlin, Aria Karnoski, and Richie Lont.

Freshman Kayla Serafin from Holy Redeemer High School in Wilkes-Barre poses with HRHS Principal Anita Sirak (left) and Mrs. Elaine Snyder as she is awarded the Scott E. Snyder Memorial Scholarship, named for a Bishop Hoban High School junior who passed away. Awarded by Scott’s family, the award is based on the qualities of the National Honor Society — scholarship, service, leadership and character, as well as a commitment to the Catholic faith.

Students from St. Clare/St. Paul Primary Campus in Scranton collected Easter baskets to help children in need. All baskets went to the Progressive Center in Scranton.

The 3rd and 4th graders from Epiphany School in Sayre visited a One Room School House; here some of Epiphany students are dressed in similar clothing worn by children who would have attended this school.

Students, faculty and staff at Monsignor McHugh School in Cresco participated in the #RedTieChallenge, in support of a fellow student and all others who battle inheritable bleeding disorders.

The cast and crew at Notre Dame Jr./Sr. High School in East Stroudsburg were thrilled to welcome Broadway legends to their final performance of "Disaster" on Sunday, March 27. Pictured here with the cast, NDHS Director Timothy Naughton and NDHS Choreographer Naomi Naughton, are Ms. Loretta Nicole (front, left) who played Lenora Verona in the original Broadway production, and Seth Rudetsky (center, kneeling) who wrote the play and played Professor Ted Scheider on Broadway.

Sixth-grade students at Wyoming Area Catholic School in Exeter participated in a Seder prayer service. The primary aim of the Seder is to transmit to future generations the story of the Exodus, which is the central event in Jewish history. In the Christian tradition, the Passover Seder is also believed to be when Jesus instituted the Eucharist. Here students gather around a table sharing a ritual meal of bread, apples, eggs and grape juice, which symbolizes their faith and celebrates tradition.

Grace Castellano, Lillie Kochis, and Jenna Robertson of St. Mary of Mt. Carmel School in Dunmore wear their medals after placing 1st in the Diocesan Forensics competition at Holy Redeemer High School.

Thirty-nine students, grades 6 to 8, from St. Nicholas/St. Mary's School in Wilkes-Barre participated in an art contest sponsored by the International Fund for Animal Welfare (IFAW). The students selected animals rescued and protected by the IFAW to create original and creative paintings and colored drawings. In addition to being eligible for prizes, students' artwork may be featured and displayed on merchandise such as T-shirts, calendars, posters, and greeting cards published by the IFAW in order to promote their cause.

Discerning pastoral practices and priorities for ministry among Hispanic Catholics Parishes in the Diocese are progressing in their participation in V Encuentro, a three-year ecclesial process of missionary activity, consultation, leadership development and dialogue in parishes, dioceses and episcopal regions to discern pastoral practices and priorities to impact the quality of ministry among Hispanic Catholics.

The Diocese of Scranton began its participation in the V Encuentro process about a year ago. A core Diocesan Team had been meeting to learn and to explore different ways parishes could be encouraged to participate in V Encuentro. In early February, 10 parishes from the Diocese of Scranton agreed to participate in V Encuentro.

Once the parishes enthusiastically agreed to participate, it was time to give them guidance and training to gather information about the hopes, dreams and best practices within the Hispanic/Latino community. The process went as follows: Diocesan Team members from each parish invited 8 to 10 people who would be facilitators. The facilitators would conduct the faith sharing for the length of five weeks. The five-week sessions were centered around the Gospel of Luke "Road to Emmaus" reading. Each parish team did their own recruiting to invite all parishioners to participate. The Office for Parish Life Team trained all the facilitators throughout the months of February and March.

At this time most of the parishes have completed the five sessions, except for a couple who will start soon. Two weeks ago, the V Encuentro Diocesan Team met to share their experiences on the five-week process. They all agreed the process was enriching, hopeful and faith filled.

St. Nicholas Parish from Wilkes-Barre had a unique experience during the five-week session with the youth. The parish team wanted to engage everyone, particularly the youth. It was a great opportunity to give the youth a chance to share their dreams and hopes for the Church and, according to the Parish Team, it was phenomenal to have their input.

Now the parishes are in the process of developing a Parish V Encuentro Day celebration where the parishes would have the opportunity to celebrate the accomplishments of the five-week sessions. In addition, more information will be collected at the Parish V Encuentro

Day celebration.

Everyone who has participated has enjoyed it. The Hispanic/Latino community is grateful to the Diocese for recognizing not only the dreams and hopes but also best practices that the entire community can learn.

parishioners. He demanded consistency, loyalty and perfection. And, again, he was grateful for how we Oblates tried to be the best of our abilities to meet his expectations as he ran a top-notch parish, impeccably clean and spotless as it has been maintained to this current day, well-organized, and of course earning the reputation for its famous “Picnic of all picnics” in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

And with these wonderful experiences in my first two years of Priesthood, thus started a privileged journey of priestly friendship over the next 25 years. We carried a special bond between us, not really expressed in words or emotional gestures, but we just knew it was there like a spiritual father & son relationship. He remained at my side as I grew up in the priesthood and was given my first parish assignment as an assistant and then four years later as a pastor.

The greatest compliment he paid to me was not with empty words but when he asked me to be his confessor once after he retired from the active ministry. I was truly humbled that a priest of his age and stature would ask me, young enough to be his son, to serve as his confessor....and he was faithful to that commitment as he would call me on the phone, ask me what I was doing, and then say, “Okay, I’ll be over in 10 minutes!” I made sure I ended each confession by me kneeling down before him and asking for his blessing — they were always very sacred and intimate encounters with the Lord and each other.

I felt it appropriate at Father Dan’s funeral Mass this morning that we proclaim the Gospel of the calling of the first disciples by our Blessed Lord. They were rough and tough, ordinary men — fishermen — chosen to be the Master’s closest followers. Jesus did not seek out the most intelligent or the holiest of men — the aristocracy or the religious elite of His day.

The words of St. Peter in today’s Gospel can be echoed by every priest: “Leave me, Lord, for I am a sinful man.” And what does Jesus do? Does He walk away? Does He say, “Yes, Peter, you are right, let me find someone more qualified, more worthy of the calling.”? He not only does not walk away from him, but He challenges him and the others to be the first evangelizers, the first vocation directors.

Father Dan knew this spiritual journey very well, mindful of his own personal sinfulness and shortcomings, yet he was always keenly aware of the “call” from Christ in his life, and the demanding mission of what it means to be an authentic servant of Jesus Christ. For Father Dan this was not something to be taken lightly or to be done half-heartedly, but that it demands our life, our all. He was always acting “in persona Christi” — whether at the altar, in the confessional, from the pulpit, behind the desk, swinging a hammer, using a shovel or driving a plow truck. Father Dan was one of those real men called out from the world by the Lord to be a disciple in our day.

Four years ago when I was beginning to prepare a new chapter in my priestly ministry that would take me 3,000 miles away — clear across country — away from all that is familiar and comfortable to me, Father Dan came to see me the night before my departure to say his farewell. I must say it was the first time that we both had some wetness around our eyes.... His “farewell discourse” to me was far from a discourse as he was never about a lot of talk. He offered me a firm handshake — no hug of course — wishing me success in my responsibilities by doing it well and faithfully.

Father Dan, your family, your Diocesan family and friends surround you at this sacred moment as we tearfully, yet gratefully, acknowledge your 90 years of life and over 60 years of service in the Holy Priesthood. As we celebrate in this Easter season the triumph of Christ over sin and death, it is our prayer for you that you fully enter into the joy of your Lord and Master: “Blessed are those who have died in the Lord; let them rest from their labors for their good deeds go with them.”

You have served the Lord well, O faithful son of the Church, as an outstanding pastor on every level, particularly as a wise and faithful steward of the church’s temporal needs, maintaining to meticulous precision this beautiful house of worship and adjacent buildings and grounds, including the parish cemetery. I personally observed Father Dan’s pastoral style and work ethic and I can say it truly inspired me as I sought to emulate much of it when I had the privilege to serve as pastor for nine years at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Pittston. Hopefully you have inspired all of us to work hard for Christ and never to count the cost.

I feel it is only appropriate that I bring this homily to a close with the inspiring words of our great saintly Polish Pope — Saint John Paul II, who said in 1979 just a year after his election as Supreme Pontiff and following his first visit to the United States that: “The world looks to the priest, because it looks to Jesus! No one can see Christ; but everyone sees the priest, and through him they wish to catch a glimpse of the Lord! Immense is the grandeur of the Lord! Immense is the grandeur and dignity of the priest!”

Thank you, Father Dan, for allowing us to catch a glimpse of the Lord because of your faithful and dedicated service in His Holy Priesthood. May you rest in peace! Amen.

Excerpted from the homily by Very Rev. Paul A. McDonnell, OSJ, at the Mass of Christian Burial celebrated for Father Daniel D. Olszewski on May 3 at Sacred Heart of Jesus Church in Dupont.

Making Sense of Bioethics: The Ethics of New Age Medicine

concerns about superstitious viewpoints or misguided forms of spirituality motivating certain therapies.

If we consider acupuncture, this technique does appear to provide benefit in certain cases of pain control. Yet similar results have been reported using “sham” needles — tapping the skin in random places with a thin metal tube. Brain scans have demonstrated that treatment with genuine needles, as opposed to the sham needles, does cause detectable changes in the brain. But, when researchers ignored acupuncturists’ recommended “meridian placement” of needles, and instead did random placement in the skin, the same brain effects were observed. Hence, it is unclear whether the results seen from acupuncture arise mostly from the well-known “placebo effect” or not. Further research should help resolve this question.

Even if the observed effects are not placebo-related, acupuncture’s non-rational justification for its purported effectiveness remains a concern. It is based on energy principles that neither science nor faith affirm. Glenn Braunstein, M.D., described it critically in the following way:

“Ch’i, the invisible nutritive energy that flows from the universe into the body at any one of 500 acupuncture points, is conducted through the 12 main meridians [channels] in (ideally) an unbroken circle. Meridians conduct either Yin energy (from the sun) or Yang energy (from the earth). All maladies are caused by disharmony or disturbances in the flow of energy.”

Clearly, then, some alternative therapies, beyond the basic issue about whether they work, raise serious spiritual concerns as well.

Another new-age therapy known as Reiki, developed in Japan in the late 1800s, claims that sickness can be caused by a disruption or imbalance in a patient’s “Reiki” or “life energy.” Reiki practitioners try to heal a patient by placing their hands in certain positions on the body in order to facilitate the flow of Reiki from the practitioner to the patient.

A 2009 document from the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops stresses, “In terms of caring for one’s spiritual health, there are important dangers” that can arise by turning to Reiki. The document notes that because Reiki therapy is not compatible with either Christian teaching or scientific evidence, it would be inappropriate for Catholics to put their trust in the method, because to do so would be to operate “in the realm of superstition, the no-man’s-land that is neither faith nor science.”

Scientific investigations of another new-age therapy, the popular herbal remedy known as echinacea (taken early to ward off a cold) have revealed no difference between echinacea and a placebo in controlled studies involving several hundred subjects. While some herbal remedies may be harmless and inert placebos, others may have more serious health consequences if ingested above certain dosages due to ingredients of unknown potency derived from natural substances.

Sometimes a remedy can be borrowed from Chinese, Indian or another medical tradition, but it should be chosen for its efficacy, safety, and reasonable mode of action, and not be in conflict with principles of sound medical science or Christian teaching.

Health improvements that arise from alternative remedies may be due not only to the placebo effect, but also to the fact that patients are usually given more time, attention and focused concern by alternative practitioners than by traditional physicians. This can translate into modified habits and changed lifestyles, leading to various health benefits.

Modern medicine can be legitimately faulted for downplaying this dimension, so that, in the memorable words of pediatrician Jay Perman, “Doctors tend to end up trained in silos of specialization,” in which they are taught “to make a diagnosis, prescribe a therapy, and we’re done. But we’re not done.”

The famous Greek physician Hippocrates once noted the same point: “It is more important to know what sort of person has a disease than to know what sort of disease a person has.” Today’s physicians-in-training, fortunately, are seeking to incorporate more and more of these “patient-centric” and “holistic” aspects into their own traditional medical practices to improve patient care and outcomes.

Who makes house calls?

As of October 2015, I will now meet clients either at their home, or at a location they choose and no longer require clients to meet at my office. I have decided that I would change the way I meet with people so it will be as easy and as convenient as possible for the client.

Based on my practice, which consists of estate planning and administration along with elder law, I find that clients are more comfortable discussing such matters in familiar surroundings. While I know this may seem unconventional to some, I believe I will be able to serve clients much better in this fashion. If anyone is uncomfortable with home visits, I have a few locations where I can meet in an office setting. I look forward to meeting with my existing clients and especially meeting new clients that are looking for any assistance in estate or elder law matters.

Mission Message

Wounded Healers

By Deacon Edward T. Kelly
Diocesan Director,
Pontifical Mission Societies

Now that we are in the Easter Season it is a good time to reflect on the Risen Christ and the hope which that brings and the faith which it inspires.

After His death and Resurrection, Jesus appeared to many of his followers. “On the evening of that first day of the week, when the doors were locked where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in their midst and said to them, “Peace be with you.” (John 20:19).

In contrast with the disciples’ fear and the violence of the Crucifixion, Jesus’ first words are of peace. Then without wasting much time, Jesus sends the disciples on mission. “As the Father has sent me, so I send you.” (John 20:21). He also breathes on them and says, “Receive the Holy Spirit.” (John 20:22). They will not be alone in carrying out their mission. God is with them and suddenly the fear is gone.

We can probably all sympathize with Thomas. He was not there when Jesus appeared...he Spring Break in Cuba... “Can I talk to you about Jesus, and how much He loves you?” That’s the Good News that young people in Cuba offer to those with whom they visit in rural areas during their time off from school. Hopping on board trucks — filled with mattresses and supplies — they make the journey, accompanied by religious like Sister Bernardina. A local parish hosts them for the evenings, and their days are spent going door to door with the Good News of the Gospel, read from pamphlets they create.

The Catholic Church, through the Pontifical Mission Societies, supports a global network of people working on the front line of service for the most vulnerable communities. Missio is your connection to these change-makers. Learn more at missio.org has not seen anything...and he wants proof. Thomas finally comes to believe in and recognize the Risen Christ by putting his finger into his wounds and touching his scars. Isn’t that true in today’s world? The Risen Christ is profoundly present in the wounded and scarred.

We don’t have to live long in this world to pick up some scars. To live this life fully, to venture, to risk, and to love, is to bear deep scars. In back of every scar, there is a wound. And in back of every wound, there is a story.

We all have our own personal stories, and perhaps our scars and wounds are the pivotal parts. To tell the stories of our scars is to have others know us more completely and understand us all the better. For some the story may be a lost job or some financial burden; for others it may be a broken relationship or difficulty in the family; for some it may be an illness or the death of a loved one.

The point of our woundedness may prove to be God’s best opportunity to use us. Could our woundedness be the best gift we could give to others? Such is the grace and power of the Risen Christ, that not only can our wounds be healed, but our scars can become sources of healing for others. It is in uniting our scars and our wounds with those of the Risen Christ where we can find our purpose.

Through our own wounds we are able to feel the pain of others who might be going through so much more. The whole world watched our suffering brothers and sisters in Haiti, Chile, Japan, the Philippines and other mission territories who have been wounded so severely by catastrophic earthquakes, tsunamis and hurricanes. The whole world watched the heart-breaking plight of innocent people in Syria being tortured and killed or uprooted from their homeland through no fault of their own.

The world is being challenged to embrace an all-loving God — suffering in these people, calling us to be wounded healers. Our response transforms and connects us in compassion across borders and cultures as we struggle to give them the hope that in these losses they will eventually find their way to recover, to heal and to live again.

The Most Rev. Yves Marie Pean, CSC, Bishop of the Diocese of Gonaives in Haiti, has said: "Hope and faith are linked. It is that which gives substance to our hearts. It convinces us of things we cannot see... Hope is developing in the confidence of God that permits us to go over all kinds of obstacles."

Yet, many recent immigrants to the U.S. find themselves unwelcome. The challenges of living our solidarity are all around us. Just like those early disciples, there is always the risk to find ourselves behind locked doors in fear and mistrust of the other. And this can paralyze us, blind us to the needs of the other, divide us into us and them, and keep us on the sidelines.

Let us remember the Easter message of hope. Christ is Risen and Christ is here with us. We need not keep the door locked but rather celebrate that Christ is present. And Christ continues to send us "on mission" — calling us to open the door, engage in dialogue, build trust, work for justice and peace and be wounded healers both home and on a global scale.

In this Easter Season, as Jesus called forth Thomas to touch his wounds so that he might believe, Jesus is calling us to continue to touch his wounds today so as to continue his mission to the whole world.
